

SUBURB DECIDES HOW TO ACT ON TO JOIN EL PASO WIRE COMPANIES

Grandview Citizens Meet To Form a Municipality and Change Their Minds.

A mass meeting, called Tuesday night by the citizens of Grandview for the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the community as to incorporating into a separate town, turned into an enthusiastic gathering, pledged to do its utmost toward securing annexation with the city of El Paso, after the defeat of the proposition for a separate corporation.

The original proposition to incorporate was voted down by a count of 13 to 49, after considerable discussion as to the feasibility of making the desired improvements with the tax assessments which would be available under the state law for a town of the size of Grandview. The supporters of the incorporation movement, led by Edgar Williams and W. H. Scott, turned defeat into victory by proposing, as a compromise of the conflict in view, that a committee be appointed to appear before the city council of El Paso with a proposition for the annexation of the Grandview community. A formal motion to this effect was made by Mr. Scott, and on a rising vote it received the unanimous approval of the citizens present.

The chairman of the committee, W. H. Scott, J. W. Kirkpatrick, Edgar Williams, J. G. McKeith, George Clements, Mrs. Joe Clements, W. C. McCormick and Mrs. H. T. Bower. The committee was instructed to proceed, at the earliest possible date, to confer with the city council and report back to the citizens, at a mass meeting to be held next Friday night at 8 o'clock.

INFLUENZA RESULTED IN ANEMIA

Fort Wayne Woman Recommends Treatment that Repairs the Ravages Caused by the Attack.

There are few people in the country who haven't touched by the sorrow that trailed in the wake of the Spanish influenza epidemic. Estimates of the loss of life caused by the disease have been made but it will be many years before the real effect of the scourge can be measured for the after-effects of influenza are sometimes as fatal as the disease itself.

Victims of the disease are generally left with impoverished blood and weakened systems. In this condition they are exposed to many dangers unless precautions are taken. Failure to avoid exposure frequently results in pneumonia or bronchitis and for this reason it is of first importance that the depleted blood should be reestablished. Strong blood and healthy nerves are the best immunity from disease.

A blood builder is therefore an important part of the treatment after an attack of influenza and the cause of Mrs. Julia Richmond of No. 407 Fort street, Fort Wayne, Ind., is an example of the benefits of this treatment.

"I had a severe attack of influenza," she says, "and it seemed as though I didn't have any blood left. My face looked like wax and I was so weak that I couldn't walk upstairs and didn't dare wait for my husband for fear of not being able to get back. I had dizzy spells and would have people of melancholia."

"Several years previously I had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with benefit and knowing of their quality as a blood builder I began to take them. I felt better after the first box and continued the treatment until I had used three boxes. When my color returned and my strength was restored. I can do my own work now and no longer have difficulty in climbing stairs. My heart is normal and the dizzy spells are things of the past. I have become so confident of the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood that I unhesitatingly recommend them to those of my friends who are in need of a tonic."

The deficiency that invariably follows influenza is not a disease of any one organ. It is a general condition of weakness. It must be met by a remedy whose good results will be quickly translated throughout the entire system. In fact it must be corrected by building up the blood which, when rich and red, carries renewed health and strength to every part of the body.

Our booklet, "Building Up the Blood" contains a chapter on after-effects of the grip which will interest everyone who has been a victim of the epidemic. A copy will be sent free to any address on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 25 cents per box, six boxes for $1.50. Do not pay more.—Adv.

The Chamber of Commerce Takes More Time; Pays For Alamogordo Road.

On a close vote, the directors of the chamber of commerce on Tuesday afternoon, decided to reconsider their action of the week previous in which they endorsed the Moon bill now before congress for the regulation of the telegraph and telephone companies. It was decided to hold the matter open for future action until some of the directors could read the Moon bill.

Action was taken after president O. C. Coles had asked Judge J. M. Goggin for an opinion on the bill and Judge Goggin had said that he did not see the necessity for continuing the wire companies under government control while the measure was being enacted. He thought remedial legislation for the betterment of the service could be enacted as well after the return of the companies to their owners, as while they were under government control.

Director G. A. Martin, one of five directors who voted against reconsideration, said that the history of law making that matters apparently desired by corporations did not receive proper consideration by congress. He believed a better measure would come out of congress if enacted before the lines were turned to private ownership. He asked that the following statement be entered on the minutes: "I favor the Moon measure because I think it gives the telegraph and telephone companies an equal showing and I am sure if passed it would give the American public a much better wire service and eventually a much cheaper one. I am opposed to government ownership of the wires, but I believe if the lines are continued for a short time under government control there is a better prospect of getting legislation enacted for the betterment of the system. The lines are turned back immediately. I did not vote upon this matter the first time without having satisfied myself that I favored it and I am not ready to rescind any action taken by this board. I believe when we take an action it should be after due understanding of the subject and that we should then stand behind it."

To Pay for Alamogordo Road. On motion of J. W. Kirkpatrick, the board voted to make up the deficit on the Alamogordo road, amounting to about $4500, after an inspection of the road in made; also to make the membership in the Ozark Traffic association, as pledged a year ago, at $1 each. It was announced that W. W. Turner would be one of the speakers at the annual dinner of the chamber of commerce next Wednesday night and director John M. Wyatt was asked to telegraph Judge Ramsey, of the federal bank at Dallas, to make an address. It was also said that Louis C. Hill, consulting engineer of the high line canal committee, might also be here and make a talk.

To Mark Landings. President Coles said as soon as a site could be chosen near Fort Bliss, the military authorities would properly mark the aviation landing field; that Gen. J. J. Hornbrook had agreed to do this.

Several matters were referred to the new board. A proposal to endorse a bill for a non-partisan board of visitors to eleemosynary institutions in Texas, was tabled because of some classes in which the members and Judge Goggin objected.

Mr. Coles furnished cigars to the directors as a farewell offering and thanked them all for their cooperation during the past year. He said he thought they had accomplished good deal and that he appreciated their hard work.

The old board will meet for a few minutes this evening to canvass the election today, after which the new board will organize.

"Port Of Missing Men" Name Of Guesome Spot. Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 23.—There is a spot along the banks of the Ohio river near here that bids fair to become noted as the "port of missing men."

Driven by some mysterious force the bodies of parts of bodies of four murdered persons have been cast up at this sinister place during the last two years.

The last gruesome find was the severed right leg of a woman which was uncovered when a recent rise in the river carried away some of the sand.

Police authorities keep a close watch along this river cemetery.
